Headline:
Rain and hill snow clearing tonight. Dry and cold Tuesday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Rain and hill snow at first but clearing in evening, then dry with long clear periods developing. A cold night will follow with a widespread sharp frost and a risk of icy stretches. Minimum temperature -5 deg C (23 deg F).

Tuesday:
A cold, but fine day with plenty of crisp winter sunshine and mainly light northwest winds. Frost and ice slow to thaw, perhaps not at all from some inland parts. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Cold, bright start Wednesday, but rain spreading from west, snow falling on hills and increasingly to low levels in east. Becoming drier, brighter Thursday afternoon and for much of Friday.
